Are you part of what is known as the "sandwich" generation where you have children at home and parents needing additional help?

It is a circumstance that we will all face. As baby boomers continue to age and life expectancies increase, it is more important to educate yourself about the steps you can take now to reduce stress later.

We can't directly help you plan for your in laws care, but we can educate you on various circumstances that people find themselves in. Learn how to age gracefully into your 90's and we will equip you to help your children and your parents answer the following questions:

- How are mom and dad going to pay for their insurance?
- Doesn't Medicare cover some?
- Should we sell mom and dad's home if they need to go into assisted living?
- Can mom and dad gift us money to prevent it from going to the government or care facility?
